Commissioner for Patents

The time period is being reset to correct a situation that arose when applicant filed a RCE on 3/17/2010, unaware that the case had been reopened the day before. At the time of the incident, examiner advised applicant not to take any action until the office sent out a notice of incorrect RCE, which the examiner believed would be sent out timely and would also reset the time period. However, the notice of improper RCE was not sent out until 5 months later on 8/17/2010, and further did not reset the time period as examiner had mistakenly indicated it would. Thus it was decided that applicant should not be held accountable for the three months of extension fees, and the time period is hereby reset to correct this situation.
